

Wise Reaffirms Opposition To Partition Plan

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency

LONDON—Dr. Stephen S. Wise, president of the Zionist Organization of America, last week reiterated his opposition to any division of Palestine in an address before the Zionist General Council Supreme Zionist body between biennial congresses. Dr. Wise told the council he had heard nothing during its deliberations to change his belief that it was still possible for the Jews to obtain all of Palestine.

Gathered from many parts of the world to consider the gravest crisis of the Jewish homeland movement, the nearly 100 Zionist leaders present heard their leader, Dr. Chaim Weizmann, deliver a slashing attack on "Jewish assimilationists" whom he held to be hampering Zionist political work and harming the Jewish cause.

Weizman Glum.

Dr. Weizman, president of the World Zionist Organization, made a 90-minute speech at the opening session, held in strictest secrecy. He painted a somber picture of the political situation affecting Zionism and was understood to have made a profound impression on his listeners.

Dr. Weizmann reviewed the political situation since the Zionist Congress of August, 1937, in Zurich, Switzerland. He said he had understood the Government, after accepting the general conclusions of the Peel Royal Commission, intended to proceed with partition and then seemed determined not to permit the enemies of Zionism to make Palestine into a second Spain. But a delay followed, he declared, which he presumed was due to complications in the international sphere, which always have aggravating repercussions for Jews.

Ussishkin Asks Hearing.

Censors Nap; 'Aryans' Hear Jews Extolled

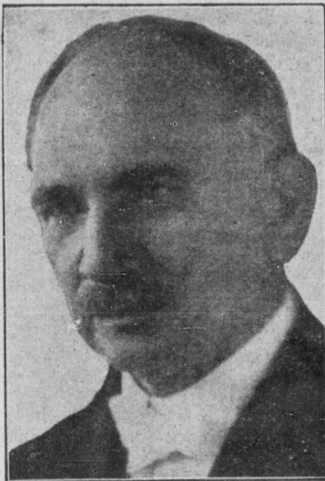

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency

BERLIN—Because of a strange oversight, a German audience in the Lower Rhine district was allowed to hear a non-Jewish lecturer on Palestine pay a warm tribute to the Jewish achievements in Palestine.

"The astounding development in Palestine in the last ten years has been not only the work of England, but must be credited to the cultural productivity of the Jews," the lecturer declared. He further went on to say that "the 'Arab gentleman,' whose national pride, freedom and honor mean more to him than material profit, should first accept the high cultural level of the Jews before they discuss this matter."

Commenting on the loose censorship which permitted such statements to be made, the Essener National-Zeitung, organ of Marshal Hermann Goering, states with regret that the audience neither hissed nor heckled the speaker—whose name is not given—nor ordered him to go to Palestine which he apparently admired so much. Furthermore, the paper points out, the speech was printed and sent to people in the district who could not attend the lecture.

DR. HENRY COHEN

Rabbi 'Too Busy' For Celebration

Special

GALVESTON, Texas—Too busy to celebrate his own Golden Jubilee! It appears that this is the situation in which Dr. Henry Cohen, beloved rabbi here, will find himself next month when his 75th birthday and his 50th anniversary as Rabbi of Congregation B'nai Israel roll around.

For as usual, Dr. Cohen will be pre-occupied with the needs of others. He is, for one thing, engaged in raising money to save the historic Congregation of St. Thomas in the Virgin Islands from imminent ruin. And his jubilee season will also find him busy with a regional convention of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations which will be held in Houston next month.

But his community will not permit him to escape so easily. The unbecoming for his approaching anniversary which his modesty dictates is not shared by the people of Galveston. As Adrian Levy, mayor of Galveston and president of Congregation B'nai Israel, recently said, "This community is in" (Continued on Page 2)

Palestine Youngsters Crash "400" As Guests Of Sheikh

Special

JERUSALEM — Society note from Palestine.

Thirty-five German-Jewish children, recent settlers in the cooperative colony of Tel-Hai in Upper Galilee, were guests at a tea given by the Sheikh of the Arab village of Odeissa in the Naftali Hills.

It was a colorful and delightful gathering. A trek of two hours over bad roads was nothing to the sturdy boys and girls of Tel-Hai. Clad in shorts and blouses, their faces bronzed and their bare heads dusty, the children were ceremoniously received by the silken-robed Sheikh, who conducted the party into his house, the walls of which were hung with carpets and portraits.

The spokesman for the young visitors was one of the colonists, Ben Zion, a native Palestinian. As the boys and girls seated themselves on cushions on the floor, Ben Zion and the Sheikh were engaged in a courtesy ritual which lasted fully ten minutes and was solely concerned with the question as to who should occupy the seat of honor, each offering it to the other with elaborate ceremonial flourishes.

Finally, the Sheikh triumphed with a smile and Ben Zion took the seat. Then the Arab beckoned a servant to bring in a hassock on which the host seated himself. Bread and salt, the traditional Semitic symbols of hospitality, were passed around and all partook of them.

The Sheikh then politely requested his visitors to sing some Hebrew songs. The Sheikh's wife then sent word to the girls of the party to visit her in her quarters which, according to Moslem custom, she is not permitted to leave when male guests are in the house. After a pleasant chat with her, the girls returned to the Sheikh's living room, where tea and Arabian sweetmeats were served. Later the group danced the Hora on the terrace. As the children took leave the Sheikh graciously presented them with bouquets of flowers.

'37 IMMIGRATION DROP IS 19,000

Arbitrary Ban On Jews' Entry To Be Retained

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency

LONDON—There will be "another arbitrary period" in Palestine immigration, the House of Commons was told in the course of a flare-up precipitated by a vote on supplementary estimates of $2,115,000 for Palestine defense.

Replying to a question on whether the present policy, under which the immigration quota for Jews in the eight-month period ending March 31 was 1,000 monthly, would be continued, Colonial Secretary William Ormsby-Gore said: "We adopted a purely arbitrary measure. There will have to be another arbitrary period. I shall announce in due course what is decided, but that has not yet been decided."

The debate was featured by a sharp clash between Mr. Ormsby-Gore and Col. Josiah Wedgwood, Laborite, who attacked the Government for allegedly failing to give the military forces in Palestine the authority and the power to pacify the country and for not using 40,000 Jews capable of bearing arms.

Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax gave an audience to Dr. Chaim Weizmann, president of the World Zionist Organization.

Twenty-five Conservative Members of Parliament introduced a motion in the House of Commons asking complete suspension of Jewish immigration into Palestine until the proposed partition goes into effect.

The American Jewish Congress was first organized in 1918 as a temporary body to send delegates to the Versailles Peace Conference. It was succeeded in 1922 by the present organization.

NEW YORK—Rabbi Abraham L. Fineberg of Mt. Neboh Temple, this week handed down "Ten Rules for the Would-be Hitler".

1. Love none but yourself; 2. Never show a sense of humor; 3. Kill off your enemies; 4. Don't trust your friends; 5. Never confess a doubt about anything; 6. Avoid being "human"; 7. Read no books but your own; 8. Never feel pity; 9. Always strut; 10. Blame everything on the Jews.

Hungarian Jews Face Pressure

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency

BUDAPEST—Hungarian Jewry was concerned this week over Premier Koloman Daranyi's assertion, in a speech at Gyoeer, that the Jewish question in Hungary must be solved by reducing Jewish influence in trade, industry and cultural life.

Stressing the belief that only a legal, gradual solution was possible, Dr. Daranyi declared the problem arose from the fact that the Jews had attained a disproportionate position in certain economic fields. He asserted the Jews congregated in cities particularly the capital, where the Jewish influence in cultural life "does not always conform to Hungarian ideals and aspirations."

Taking up Premier Daranyi's theme, Education Minister Valentin Homan speaking at Szentes, declared that while the Jews who have lived a long time in Hungary had adapted themselves to the Hungarian spirit, the new arrivals had not but continued to maintain subversive movements. He warned the Jews that Jews securing positions in industry by unfair means must be removed and that the Government would take steps to prevent the Jews from securing further influence in industry.

Premier Daranyi formed a new government as a prelude to submission of the projected $200,000,000 economic recovery program.

League Gets Protest In Doctors' Behalf

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency

GENEVA—The World Jewish Congress Executive protested to the League of Nations last week against decision of the Nazi-dominated Danzig Senate to bar Jewish physicians and patients from hospitals beginning April 1.

In telegrams to the French, British and Swedish Foreign Ministers, and to the League Secretary-General and High Commissioner for Danzig, the Congress demanded intervention by the League's Committee of Three on Danzig to safeguard the Free City's constitution. The telegrams asserted that private physicians were also refusing to treat Jewish patients.

In the United States, with a Jewish population of 4,500,000, it is estimated that only 300,000 to 350,000 men and women are directly and actively affiliated with synagogues.

Palestine Takes Only 10,536 In Calendar Year

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency

JERUSALEM — A precipitous drop in Jewish immigration to Palestine was recorded in 1937 for the second successive year, according to figures made public by the Government Office of Statistics. From a record total of 61,854 in 1935, and 29,727 in 1936, the figure for the past year plunged to 10,536. Government curbs, resulting from protracted Arab disorders, accounted for the sharp decline.

Poland, by a slim margin over Germany, continued to lead as the principal country of origin of the Jewish immigrants. Of the total entering Palestine, Polish Jews numbered 3,636 in 1937 as against 11,588 in 1936. Jewish immigrants from Germany were second with 3,601, as against 8,180 the previous year. Rumania continued in third place with 314. A total of 172 came from the United States.

'All-American' Fight On Anti-Semitism Urged

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay—Condemning anti-Semitism and racialism as the enemies of democracy, a conference of democratic groups from all over the country unanimously adopted an eight-point program for a Pan-American campaign to combat them. Participating in the conference were representatives of virtually all the political parties in Uruguay.

The program was proposed by Prof. Alvarez Guillot Munoz, secretary of the Argentine Committee Against Racism and Anti-Semitism. It provided for a campaign against anti-democratic measures in certain South American countries; organization in all American nations of committees to combat anti-Semitism; formation of a central agency to disseminate information on the racialism campaign, and setting of a world "day for solidarity of the human races."

At the same time, the Interior Ministry struck a blow against spread of hate propaganda with a decree prohibiting radio stations from broadcasting any material inciting against peoples, religions, races or nationalities.

Nazi Campaign Of Persecution Hits Austrians

By JACK BARNETT

The swastika waved this week over the ancient palace of the Hapsburgs in Vienna.

It waved, too, over the broken lives of Austria's 200,000 Jews as that storied country, with a history dating back 2,000 years, became a part of Adolph Hitler's Third German Reich.

The blow fell swiftly, omniously, as the ex-Austrian paperhanger forced one of the most amazing political coups in history—a move that brought 7,000,000 souls under the sway of Nazism without a shot being fired without a voice lifted in protest or a hand raised in defense.

Drive Is Swift.

While England and France, the two great "democracies" of the Old World, and Russia, citadel of "the people" stood by, Adolph Hitler's philosophy of studied violence, persecution and cruelty triumphed. Another cardinal point of "Mein Kampf" was fulfilled.

Events moved with such kaleidoscopic swiftness that clear analysis—even full comprehension—of the situation was difficult. One fact, however, stood out in stark nakedness to all observers: For the Jews, no hope. For the Jews, misery, death.

Backed by the years of experience in Germany, Hitler's Jew-crushing machine moved with swiftness and precision to absorb the people whose written history in Austria goes back to the tenth century. With Dr. Arthur Seyss-Inquart, a bitter anti-Semite installed as "Governor of the Austrian Province", bans, decrees and orders affecting Jews were issued faster than they could be recorded.

Jews Denied Ballot.

Jews were barred from voting in the plebiscite set for April 10th. Jews were denied membership in sports organizations.

Jewish lawyers were forbidden to practice.

Although schools were closed several days for "celebration", an immediate ouster campaign against Jewish professors was launched.

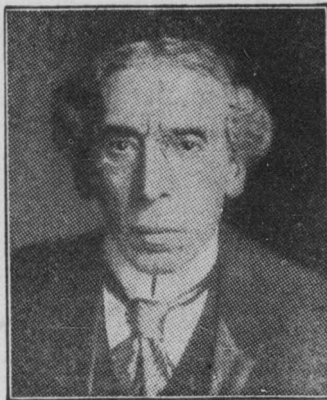

Storm troops raided the offices of the Austrian Zionist Federation and other Jewish organizations. The premises were sealed and all funds found were confiscated.

Hundreds of Jewish bankers, business men and intellectuals were arrested.

Publication this week of a volume of selected works of Israel Zangwill, famous Jewish novelist and short story writer, has been announced by the Jewish Publication Society. The volume contains, among other famous works, Zangwill's, "Children of The Ghetto", "Ghetto Comedies" and "Ghetto Tragedies".

Jew appeared in the Austrian press. The Jewish owner of the newspaper Telegraf was reported to have been arrested in attempting to leave the country after his paper appeared with the masthead, "National Socialist Telegraf" and a new staff. Jewish influence in the press is simply non-existent.

The Austrian Broadcasting System was merged with the German system.

Jews are being systematically, driven from the theatre. A converted Jew, director of the Volks Theatre, was replaced by an "Aryan".

In Vienna, city of romance, gaiety and song, where the Jews have been prominent in music, art, medicine and business for centuries, signs reading "German Shop" and "Aryan Shop" made their appearance.

Leaders Meet.

Small orthodox synagogues were crowded with worshippers complying with instructions of the Orthodox Jewish Community, but a number of the larger synagogues did not hold services.

Jewish leaders were meeting privately in an attempt to adjust the community to the new conditions and to consider how to establish relations with the new regime.

The full force of the Nazi minority-persecution policy is expected to fall on the Jews. Austria is (Continued on Last Page)

Rumanian Jews Must Give Proof Of Citizenship

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency

BUCHAREST—The Rumanian Government last week cancelled a clause in the citizenship revision decree which deprived Jews of voting rights pending the revision and annulled the decision of several professional unions suspending Jewish members.

"No loss of rights results from the fact that a Rumanian citizen is subject to the revision," the Government declared in promulgating regulations which clarify the situation of the Rumanian Jews during the revision decreed by King Carol.

The regulations for application of the decree establish categories of persons entitled to Rumanian citizenship. According to these categories the majority of the estimated 800,000 Jews are subject to the revision and must present proof to the courts that they are entitled to citizenship.

In defining the term "Jew," the regulations specify that those persons of the Mosaic faith baptized as Christians after Nov. 18, 1918, will be considered as Jews for the purpose of the revision decree.

Prof. Alexander Vaida-Voevod, Minister Without Portfolio and anti-Semitic leader of the Rumanian Front, was given charge of all questions pertaining to minorities. A decree providing that only Rumanian citizens may obtain contracts for public works was published in the official gazette.

Lith Students Riot; Jewish Women Beaten

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency

KAUNAS—Many Jewish students were beaten and Jewish women students insulted when Lithuanian students organized anti-Semitic excesses preventing Jews from voting in the Students' Union elections. The rector's efforts to restore order were unavailing, the disorders continuing until late evening.

A special session of the Kaunas University Senate condemned the disorders and decided to punish severely the persons responsible for them and to take energetic measures for security. The rector published an appeal to the students to consider and not to repeat the disturbances.

Brin Speaks At Communion Breakfast

Special

BOSTON—Alexander Brin, publisher of the Jewish Advocate, was the speaker last week at the communion breakfast held jointly by the nine Episcopal churches of Cambridge and Somerville at the Church of the Ascension in Cambridge. This is the first time in the history of these groups that a Jewish layman has addressed the gathering.

The nine churches participating in the breakfast were the Church of the Ascension, St. Peter's, St. Bartholemew's, St. James' and Christ Church, of Cambridge, St. James', St. Thomas', Emmanuel and Christ Church of Somerville.

Rev. Dr. Will Ashley Hawley, Rev. Frederick C. Lawrence, Rev. James W. Mitchell and Rev. James Thayer Addison also took part in the program.

POPULATION DROPS

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency

PRAHA—A drastic decline in the Jewish population of Baden, Germany, was revealed in a report of the Baden Council of Jewish Communities, which showed that from 20,617 in 1933 the number of Jews shrank in 1937 to 13,900, or a decline of one-third.

Rabbi Graff was formerly spiritual leader at Temple Adath Israel in Paducah, Ky.

Anti-Semitic Minister Asks Prayers By Jews

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency

BUCHAREST—Premier Miron Christea, rabid anti-Semite who a few months ago denounced Jews as "the enemies of Rumania," last week appealed for cooperation of Jews "in restoring spiritual peace, unity and brotherhood" in Rumania.

The Patriarch Premier, who is head of the Orthodox Rumanian Church, sent a letter to Chief Rabbi Jacob Niemirower asking him to instruct all rabbis to hold special services for peace and unity on March 13, when special prayers for reconciliation were held throughout the country. Dr. Niemirower ordered the services.

"With sincerest appreciation and good will," Dr. Christea said, "I urge those belonging to the Jewish faith to cooperate in restoring spiritual peace, unity and brotherhood among all Rumanians."

Arabs And Jews Ask For Rent Reduction

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency

JERUSALEM—Jerusalem's Jewish and Arab shops went on strike last week for a Government program of rent regulation which would permit adjustment of rates downward as far as 40 per cent and ban summary evictions for non-payment of rent. About 1,000 shops closed their doors, restaurants and cafes staying open only for lunchtime and during the evening.

Action followed a visit by a delegation of Arab and Jewish merchants to Government Chief Secretary William D. Battershill. In a memorandum, the delegation pointed out that retail business had dropped more than 50 per cent in the past three years, while rentals had risen sharply, in some cases as much as 100 per cent.

reality a shadow of Henry Cohen."

Neither his 75th birthday, which is April 7, nor his Golden Jubilee will be permitted to pass unnoticed. Galveston is preparing an elaborate celebration for April 26 and 27. This is not the first time he is to be so honored. Ten years ago the community presented him with the Henry Cohen Community House, "one of the most beautiful community structures in Galveston."

Born in London, England, and ordained at the Jews' College in that city, he has risen to a position of leadership in the American rabbinate. In 1924 this fact was recognized by the Hebrew Union College when that institution presented him with an honorary degree of Doctor of Hebrew Law.

His interest in the community of St. Thomas in the Virgin Islands grows out of the fact that during the 1880's he served as rabbi of the community of Kingston, Jamaica. He has since maintained his connections with Sephardic Jewry in this hemisphere.

fore that Britain was doing its best to put into effect the Jewish National Home.

Menachem Mendel Ussishkin demanded that the opponents of the Palestine division be given a hearing before the recently-named Palestine Partition Commission. Mr. Ussishkin, Council chairman and leader of the anti-partitionists, attacked Dr. Weizmann's proposal to extend the London Executive of the Zionist Organization on the ground that this would mean inclusion of more pro-partitionists.

Ben Gurion Is Speaker.

Prof. Selig Brodetsky, member of the Executive, defended its political work in London, which Dr. Weizmann had attacked, and pointed out that he had long favored extension of the committee. He offered to resign or continue his work, whichever was desired.

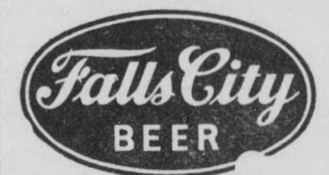

Comment was aroused by the fact that Dr. Weizmann, in his report, did not seize the opportunity to report comprehensively on the progress of negotiations with the British Government regarding establishment of a Jewish State in Palestine.

David Ben Gurion, chairman of the Jerusalem Executive of the Zionist Organization also spoke, devoting his report chiefly to discussing negotiations with the Arabs and justifying the Executive's position.

It is reported that in Germany not a single Jew remains in the motion picture industry.

Varied Program

Arranged For Purim Ball Sunday

A cavalcade of songs and dance, youth and beauty, laughter and joy will usher in the twenty-sixth Annual Purim Ball this Sunday evening at the Kirshbaum Center. Working with enthusiastic effort for many weeks the Purim Ball Committee have given generously of their time and energy to make for many weeks the Purim Ball of the previous twenty-five.

With Louise Jaeger as mistress of ceremonies, the curtain will rise promptly at 8:30 p.m. A fashion show directed by Jean Goldsmith, a playlet by Sol Blumenthal and his Kirshbaum Players; and specialty numbers by Tilly Abravaya of the Civic Theatre will complete the program. A runway will be provided for the Fashion Show.

Dancing will start at 9:30 p.m., with Larry Price and his swing orchestra providing the music.

At 12:30 a.m., some lucky person will win a big, new 1938 Crosley Shelvador Refrigerator, or, a latest model Crosley Radio. In addition twelve other valuable prizes will be given to holders of the special 10-cent green tickets.

While a large turnout is expected from the local community, indications point to a generous attendance from surrounding towns and from the student body of I. U. and Purdue. The Ticket Committee believe that attendance will exceed that of last year.

The Door Committee for the evening consists of Julius Falender and Philip Grenwald, Co-Chairmen; Jake Solotken and H. T. Cohen. Samuel Frommer is Chairman of the host committee.

Officers of the Jewish Educational Association sponsoring the Purim Ball are: Max M. Plesser, President; Leo Selig, First Vice-President; Dr. Bernard Hyman, Second Vice-President; David L. Sablosky, Treasurer; and Irving Ruben, Secretary.

500 EXPECTED AT CONCLAVE IN SOUTH BEND

Indianapolis To Send 125; Banquet And Dance Arranged

With more than 125 young men and women from Indianapolis signifying their intention of attending, the annual Conclave of the Indiana Union of Jewish Youth will get under way Friday, April 1 in South Bend for a three-day session. A total attendance of more than 500 is expected.

Opening with services Friday night in South Bend's two Houses of Worship, the conclave will continue through Sunday.

Saturday will be registration day, with an address by a University of Chicago professor and a business session scheduled for the afternoon. Saturday night, the Conclave dance will be held in The Columbia Club with Zeke Shapiro and his artists furnishing the music.

According to Henry Feferman, president of the Union, the State's most attractive Jewish girls will be present at the ball.

The annual banquet has been set for Sunday night.

Registrations for the affair were pouring at a rapid rate, it was announced. At least eighty Indiana University students, will attend, it was said. An especially heavy registration was being received from Gary, Hammond, East Chicago and other Northern Indiana Jewish communities.

All Conclave affairs have been arranged at the Columbia Club.

Plans are being made to have two busses leave from Indianapolis on Saturday, April 2. The round trip fare will be $2.00 with a bus scheduled to leave in the morning and in the evening.

Anyone who is planning to drive with room for extra passengers should get in touch with Norman Weisman or Sylvia Eckman. Anyone wishing transportation should likewise contact Mr. Weisman or Miss Eckman.

Janet Fishman, 29, Dies At Methodist

Funeral services for Mrs. Janet L. Fishman, 29, who died Saturday in the Methodist Hospital, were held at 2 p.m., Sunday in the Aaron-Ruben Funeral Home. Rabbi David Jacobson officiated. Burial was in the Indianapolis Hebrew Cemetery. Mrs. Fishman, who was the wife of Fred Fishman, was widely known, having taken a prominent part in Jewish community work. She was active in the peace movement, being chairman of an Indiana committee studying the cause and cure of war, and was well-known in amateur dramatic circles. She was a member of the Temple Sisterhood, the Council of Jewish Women and the Indianapolis Hebrew Congregation.

Survivors besides the husband are a son, Gordon Howard Fishman; her parents, Abraham and Diana Gordon; three sisters, Mrs. Celia Harris, Mrs. Jessie Gould and Mrs. Clara Rose, and four brothers, Albert Gordon, Sam Gordon and Robert Gordon of Los Angeles, Cal., and Philip Gordon of Peoria, Ill.

Civic Theater Presents "The First Legion"

"The First Legion" by Emmet Lavery is to be presented at the Civic Theatre of Indianapolis for six nights beginning Friday, March 18.

Appearing in the cast under the direction of Alfred Etcheverry are many well-known Civic Theater actors. David Milligan, who received favorable notice in the role of Mr. Fitchell in the recent production of "Excursion", will be seen in one of the longest and most difficult roles in "The First Legion". Clifford Courtney returns to the Civic Stage after an absence of more than a year to take a leading role. Hal Hawks, formerly a popular number of the Federal Theatre company, which was seen at the B. F. Keith Theatre for two years, is in the cast. Thomas Scanlon is making his first appearance with the Civic since "Second Man" which was presented seven years ago.

Joe Broderick, who is noted as dance director of the Civic is making one of his infrequent appearances in a dramatic role in this play.

Douglas D. Brown Announces Candidacy

Douglas D. Brown, attorney, this week announced his candidacy for the democratic nomination for the office of Justice of Peace, Center Township.

Mr. Brown has been associated with the law offices of Bamburger and Feibleman for the past eight years, and is active in Jewish community work. He is president of the Temple Brotherhood, and of the Community Club Leaders' Council, secretary of B'nai B'rith and a member of the board of the Indianapolis Hebrew Congregation. He has been an adviser to A. Z. A., trustee in the B'nai B'rith organization, and active in Sunday School work.

Betty Miller Receives State Appointment

Appointment of Miss Betty Miller, of Shelbyville, as field representative for the State was announced this week by the Indiana Department of Public Welfare. In making the announcement, the Department said Miss Miller will supervise all phases of state and county welfare programs in line with the new program recently authorized from Washington.

Miss Miller is a graduate of the University of Chicago and has been on the executive staff of the Cincinnati Community Chest and the Detroit Community Fund.

FREE LOAN MEETS

A regular meeting of the Gimeles Chessed, (Hebrew Free Loan Society), will be held at 2 p.m., Monday, March 21 in the Talmud Torah Building. Members are requested to bring in all raffle books and stubs inasmuch as the raffle will be held at this meeting. A social hour and refreshments will follow.

Contest Note

The final twenty-four questions in the Union Conclave Contest will be printed in the special Conclave edition of The Jewish Post next week. The edition will be twelve pages in size and will carry a complete program for each affair, instructions on how to reach the Columbia Club and other vital information. A copy of this edition will be mailed to every Jewish family in the State.

Troop 27, Girl Scouts of the Communal Building will present a program of entertainment at 2:30 p.m., Sunday, March 20. There will be a small admission charge.

Proceeds of the affair will be used to pay part of the expense of attending Camp Delwood during the summer. Captain Florence Slutzky and Lieut. Barbara Sternberger are in charge of the troop and the entertainment.

Troop 27 was one of the recipients of a large American flag, a gift of the American Legion, on the occasion of the twenty-sixth birthday anniversary of Girl Scouting, at a program at the World War Memorial Saturday.

PEOPLE AND PLACES

Rollin' Stones

HI HO again and they still come rolling down the mountain bearing tid-bits for me to pass on to you..... Seen Saturday afternoon at the Circle Theatre were Natalie Marcus and her cousin, Natalie Stolkin, both looking very cutish and chic. Natalie Stolkin was seen by Key Hole Katy again on Sunday afternoon at the Kirshbaum surrounded by a net of boys including "Gibber" Lehner and Bob Pallman..... Helen Weiner, fair sister of the famous "Milt", who is captain of the cross-country team at Butler, was dining, showing, and dancing with an interesting looking date Saturday night. Helen is a freshman at Butler and hails from Perth Amboy, N. J. Here's a break for youse guys..... At the Atrium room Saturday nite while on my tour of inspection, my evening was gayer because I saw Bud Goldsmith and Helaine Borinstein, Harry Traugott and Bernie Bloom with two Stevens College girls, Gwenn Rosenak and Joan Scharff, who but definitely were assets to the party. The aforementioned two men about town can pick 'em for me anytime..... Little Ruby Sagalowsky, who up and becomes a debutante over night, was also there, as was her guest Ruth Schulman. Both girls attend Ward-Belmont. That Southern atmosphere does something, 'cause I couldn't tell which one of the boys' dancing attendants were their dates..... Two distinguished former residents were in a gay party at the Atrium. Dr. Louis Rosenstein, with his twinkling devilish eyes, who was here for the week-end, Anne Stavis, and her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Ebner of Springfield, Ohio. Altho Bertie Ebner has a lovely growing family, she still retains the smart air of dashing sophistication she had when she lived here..... Viva La France or what have you..... Big apple dancers and Ethel Kaplin who performed at the Shu-Shan-Shag will go on a tour to South Bend to perform for the Jewish Youth Conclave. Their agent will be glad to interview anyone who is interested in signing the dotted line..... What young lady gave a surprise birthday party last week for Edgar Klain? Jerome (rackateer) Jacobs, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry B. Jacobs, has been touring Indiana, and Ohio in the role of Indiana State ping-pong representative, playing in tournaments. He has won many prizes and has an interesting array of loving cups and femmes..... We hope that next week the sick list will not include the names of Mrs. Edgar F. Kiser, Norton A. Fishbein, Mr. Eli Kahn, Mrs. Sam J. Mantel and Mr. Henry Reinitz.....

Blessed Eventing

We understand that the stork who brought the very elegant bouncing baby boy to Roger and Louise Kahn last Saturday received two extra feathers in his wing for his satisfactory service. The Kahns seemed to find everything about the baby above reproach, and have practically decided to keep him. Here's wishing you happiness, health, and success Roger, Louise and baby Kahn..... Stephen Edward Medias who with his mother has been a guest at the Methodist Hospital for the past two weeks, is now at home to his friends at 1501 E. Maple Rd..... Invitations have been issued by the Pretenders Dramatic Group for an evening of plays on March 27th. From rumors I've heard this group is made up of rising stars, and is really going places, after one year's existence..... Sunday is going to be a busy day. Expect to see you at the Temple Young People's League meeting in the afternoon and certainly at the Purim Ball Sunday nite at the Kirshbaum. If a handsome young man approaches you, selling seconds on the Junior Hadassah clock be sure to buy some. Ten votes toward winning the crocheted bathtub to Abe Bortz, Phil Cohen, Al Marcus and the rest of the fellows who are helping the girls out. And so my friends..... until Irving Ruben decides to take an active interest in organization work, I'll stop seeking you and I do, ah dew, and I due mean adeu.

To Address League

SAMUEL J. MANTEL

Mantel To Speak At T.Y.P.L. Meet

Samuel J. Mantel will address the Temple Young People's League meeting at 3:30 p.m., Sunday, March 20, in the Temple. His subject will be "Combating Anti-Semitism."

An original radio broadcast, "Time Marches Backward," written by Meyer Efroymson, Burt Kohn and Ruth Skom will be presented. Sylvia Eckman will direct.

A buffet supper at 45 cents per plate will follow. The meeting will conclude in time for those present to attend the Purim Ball that evening.

Temple Sisterhood Purim Meeting

Jules Salkin, first violinist of the Indianapolis Symphony Orchestra, will play at the Purim meeting of the Temple Sisterhood at 2:15 p.m., Monday, March 21, in the Temple. Mr. Salkin, a graduate of the Curtis Institute of Music in Philadelphia, is head of the viola department of the Arthur Jordan Conservatory. The speaker will be Mrs. Marian Gallup, superintendent of the Indiana Woman's Prison who will speak on "Adjusting the Social Outcast or The Other Fellow's Sister."

Also included on the program Louis Wolf on the National Conference on the "Cause and Cure Of War", held recently in Washington, D. C. Mrs. Andrew Jackson will give a scriptural reading. Mrs. A. H. Kaufman will be hostess at the tea which will follow and Mrs. Sultan Cohen and Mrs. Arthur Fairbanks will pour.

Miss Gwenn Rosenak of Terre Haute, who attends Stevens College, was the guest last week-end of her brother, Dr. Bernard Rosenak, and Mrs. Rosenak. Miss Rosenak's roommate at Stevens, Miss Joan Scharff of Nashville, Tenn., was also a guest.

DONOR LUNCHEON

Mrs. David B. Greenberg national chairman of the Youth Aliyah Committee as guest speaker. Musical selections will be given by Mrs. Herbert F. Sudranski, pianist.

Monies raised from reservations at the luncheon will go to the Youth Aliyah of Hadassah which has been engaged in bringing children from Germany and Eastern European countries into Palestine for the purpose of providing them an opportunity for a livelihood. Mrs. J. A. Goodman, chairman of the local youth Aliyah committee and a member of the National Youth Aliyah Board has been traveling throughout the state, raising funds for the movement.

Mrs. Lewis Levy is president of Hadassah and Mrs. Max Selig and Mrs. Jacob Weiss, are co-chairman of the donor luncheon committee.

Alfred Cohen To Speak At B'nai B'rith Initiation Banquet

Alfred M. Cohen, international president of B'nai B'rith will address the Indianapolis lodge at its initiation banquet and dance Sunday evening, April 24, it was announced this week. The affair will be state-wide and will be preceded by a membership campaign. Initiates will be presented as the Alfred M. Cohen class.

Mr. Cohen's address in Indianapolis may be the last he will give in his capacity as president of B'nai B'rith. Past Presidents' Night will be observed the same evening.

Mrs. Samuel Messing and her father, Harry Silberberg, will leave Sunday for Cincinnati for a visit of several days. From there they will go to Chattanooga for a visit with Mrs. Messing's daughter, Mrs. Charles Rosenheim. They will also visit in Memphis before returning home.

In the days, the like of which Jewry has not had since the Spanish Inquisition, every self-respecting Jew should keep himself and his family, especially the growing generation, informed about the cultural, social and political problems and proposed solutions.

He should know the actual incidents that together made up the picture of the life of the Jew in Germany, where his human rights are denied him; in other countries where the virus of an anti-Semitism in action has spread. He should be fully informed of the generosity of other lands in these days of trials and tribulation.

MOVEMENT: If you have occasion to refer to the fifth day of the week, you will be completely ignored if you call it Thursday in the presence of a growing number of East Siders. . . . Who have launched a movement to rename that day after King David, or Davidsday. . . . Because Thursday was so tagged in honor of Thor, a Germanic god. . . . For that matter, Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday are also named for Teutonic deities. . . .

RUMOR: The whisper is out in Bucharest that King Carol has given Lupescu the bounce. . . . And that a Christian woman, who is the wife of one of Rumania's wealthiest Jews, has supplanted her. . . . The wise money, however, is still on redheaded Magda. . . .

SENSITIVE: Nazi Propaganda Minister Goebbels turns out to be a sensitive soul. . . . In his Reichstag puppet show, Hitler referred to him as the "schlau (sly) Goebbels." . . . Fearful that people might get the wrong idea, Jittery Joey had the temerity to alter the phrase for the record. . . . So the version the press got referred to the "umsichtig (circumspect) Dr. Goebbels." . . .

LINGUIST: Mayor LaGuardia continues to surprise Jewish audiences with his sudden switches into Yiddish when the occasion arises. . . . The other day, he astounded his hearers at the Jewish Labor Committee convention when he tossed at them a mellifluous Hebrew phrase. . . . Democracy, he said, was not a matter of "Chotzi Sheli v'Chotzi Shelach," literally "half for me and half for you," or freely rendered, something that can be bargained about. . . .

MISH-MASH: Hats off to Galveston's grand old rabbi, Dr. Henry Cohen, who next month celebrates his 75th birthday and his fiftieth anniversary in the pulpit. . . . David (RCA) Sarnoff bought himself a new home in Manhattan. . . . Every room of which sports a portrait of radio's top man. . . . Jimmy Wise is back from Spain and is telling about it in a series of articles for the New York Post. . . . Mane Katz, famous French-Jewish painter, is a pint-sized man and doesn't mind telling jokes at his own expense. . . . He relates that once he tried to make the acquaintance of a Parisienne who took his fancy, by asking if he might accompany her on a stroll down the boulevard. . . . "Ah, mon petit," Mane chucklingly quotes the Parisienne, "certainly, if you are afraid." . . . Bronislaw Huberman, violinist who suffered fractured hands in an airplane crash last Summer, will return to the concert stage next Fall. . . . Sir Louis Sterling, who reversed the customary formula by being born in New York's East Side and going abroad to make good, quietly revisited the scenes of his youth recently and as quietly returned to England. . . . Believe it or not, Peters met a charming lady from Australia the other p.m., who astonished by professing never to have heard of the late Felix M. Warburg. . . . Although she was otherwise well up on aspects of world Jewish life. . . . The Agudath Israel has a special fund to aid Palestine farmers who observe the Biblical custom of a Sabbatical year and who thereby suffer financially. . . . Publisher David Shapiro, it is being bruited about in Yiddish lit'ry circles, is taking personal charge down at The Day. . . . Maurice M. Boukstein, secretary of the American Economic Committee for Palestine, has opened new law offices at 50 Wall Street. . . . They don't speak German in Palestine. . . . It's "Austrian." . . . Lovers of fine art are eagerly awaiting Lionel Reiss' book, "My Models Were Jews." . . . The slain archaeologist, James L. Starkey, it now appears, may have been the victim of "an enormous beard" which he grew prior to his murder by Arabs. . . . Sir Charles Marston recently advanced the theory before a London audience, that the Arabs mistook Starkey's nationality on seeing the beard. . . .

Music On Records

Special
NEW YORK — Four well known rabbis are the featured artists in a series of Passover musical selections just reissued in new phonograph record impressions by the Women's League of the United Synagogue. The traditional Sedar melodies, recorded originally while the rabbis were students at the Jewish Theological Seminary of America, have again been made available to the public by the Women's League, of which Mrs. Samuel Spiegel is national president. They comprise the only such Passover music in mechanical rendition. Five numbers are recorded on two double faced records.

One record comprises the "Addur Hu" and the "Chad Gadyoh." The "Addur Hu" is sung by Rabbi Morris Margolis, now rabbi of the Jacksonville (Florida) Jewish Center, while the number on other face of the record is rendered by Rabbi Theodore H. Gordon. Rabbi Airo S. Hyams, now rabbi of Temple Beth El of Asbury Park, New Jersey, sings two numbers, "Chasal Siddur Pesach" and "Echod Mi Yodea," on one face of the other record while on the reverse side Rabbi Harold Goldfarb, of the Community Temple of Cleveland, Ohio, sings the familiar "Ki Lo Noeh".

Christian Workers

Aid Boycotted Jews

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency
WARSAW — Polish Christian workers came to the aid of boycotted Jews when they attacked and broke up an anti-Jewish picket line in a town near Czesochowa. Police arrested 40 workers.

Anti-Jewish street attacks, in Warsaw have been resumed lately. Thugs attacked a Jewish couple as they were entering a motion picture theatre, seriously wounded Henry Blumstein, 40, and tramping on his wife. Police made four arrests.

Eight of the present trustees of Bellefaire, B'nai Brith Orphan Home in Cleveland, were once children of the Home.

OUR FILM FOLK of HOLLYWOOD

By HELEN ZIGMOND

HOLLYWOOD—The great inundation of 1938 will never be fully filmed for Movietown itself stood in the vortex. Two hundred players spent the night at Warners' studio. All the stars opened their bungalows at Fox for those who couldn't get home through the flood. Seven houses toppled into the river in the Universal vicinity. Joan Blondell's tennis court and swimming pool were completely swept away. Fearful that the house too might go, studio floodlights played on the structure all night.

The Ritz Brothers suffered a facial rush. . . . the doctor said they were allergic to horses. . . . with great restraint they kept away from the races. . . then discovered the cause was horse hair in their make-up beards!

Fritz Lang is a bear for accuracy. Rehearsing a bit. . . a medium long-shot. . . . he directs an actor making out a sales slip to fill it in correctly. Though the audience never sees the ticket, he commands, "Now draw a line and add the sales tax!"

Fifteen years ago: The Chaplin-Pola Negri engagement occupied headlines. But they never married.

Herman Bing discloses: He "was born sometime. . . sometime between 1859 and nineteen hundred and zebrn" . . . (just a debutante) . . . in the city where the wieners come from—Fr-r-rankfurt am Main. He arrived in America in 1924 as an assistant director to F. W. Murnau. In Europe he had been a director during the silent (also the quiet) days. With Murnau he worked on the production of "Sunrise" . . . and therewith was turned into a comedian. Translating the director's instructions to the company, he continuously butchered the King's English. . . . caused so much laughter that his next step was inevitable. . . . he was a comic, a "natural." One day he wanted unsaddled horses . . . sputtered, "Bring in the empty horses." Another time when the actors were floundering in a tank of water he assured, "Don't worry, if you get drowned, ve will survive you!" He still has secret longings to be a director.

Don't look now. . . but I think that's Lubitsch on the floor. Experimenting with one of those automatic exercising machines, he was thrown. Fortunately, both he and the habitual cigar landed right side up, not dislocating either.

Hollywood data: Alphabetical order consigns Adolph Zukor's name to the end of the Paramount telephone list. . . . but why is it the only one with a title? Robin Hood has been cut from 250,000 feet to 9300. "With Einstein relatively is merely a theory. . . in Hollywood it's a fact," says a wit. George Burns and Gracie top off their seventh consecutive year on the air . . . have ethered some 7500 minutes in that time.

By a tie-up between Warners and Postal Telegraph you can serenade your sweetheart with "Bei Mir Bist Du Schoen." For a nominal fee, chosen P.T. warblers will croon the ditty over the telephone. . . . a man's voice to a woman and vice versa. Don't crowd. . . . orders will be taken chronologically. . . .

More later.

The Editor's Chair:

The Sunday School teacher asked her first-graders to bring a Jewish current event to class the following Sunday.

Dutifully the boys and girls clipped out articles of weighty world events affecting Jews, and pasting them on a piece of paper, brought them in.

But even the teacher had to smile at one young chap.

For his current event, he had clipped a wedding announcement from this paper, "Mr. and Mrs. so and so announce the marriage, etc., etc., etc."

A movement has been begun by Alexander Brin of The Jewish Advocate, of Boston, and David J. Galter of The Exponent, of Philadelphia, looking towards the organization of an Anglo-Jewish press association. Such an organization has long been a necessity, and with any encouragement should be a guaranteed success.

So many desiderata are apparent in the Anglo-Jewish field, that any effective organization would so quickly prove its value, that its permanence would be a matter not of desirability but of actual utility. Fly-by-night publications which attempt to sell advertising to non-Jewish firms on the bases that they are local publications could be ousted from the field; canned editorials could be doomed to a ignominious grave; the abuses in the national advertising field could be corrected, and the serious lack of prestige of the Anglo-Jewish press as a whole could be attacked on a logical basis.

If at all possible, an Anglo-Jewish press association should be formed. I for one am 100 per cent in favor of such a cooperative group.

I spent all last week travelling between Indianapolis, Marion and South Bend in arranging for a special edition for the Indiana Union of Jewish Youth Conclave, April 1, 2 and 3 in South Bend. The enthusiasm of the Jewish youth of this state over the annual conclave is a revelation to anyone who hasn't lived in Indiana for any length of time. Five hundred boys and girls from every corner and city and town in the State will come together for three days of cultural and social activity. Henry Feferman, of South Bend, is president of the Union this year, and has done an efficient job in bringing the organization through another successful year. The Conclave will crown his efforts, and if the enthusiasm I encountered is any indication, the Conclave will be a teeming success.

The 'Canned' Editorial Evil Again

A STRONG Pacific Coast Anglo-Jewish publication has found it necessary to cry out against the pernicious "canned" editorial system foisted on American Jewish cities by ignorant Anglo-Jewish papers and an indifferent Seven Arts Feature Service.

Said the B'nai B'rith Messenger (no connection with the Lodge) of Los Angeles: "Last week a number of Jewish periodicals carried a 'canned' editorial issued by a national agency in which an alarm is sounded against the proposed Jewish state idea. . . . Instead of thinking things out for themselves, a number of periodicals have published this lengthy editorial as if it were the product of their own conclusions. . . . Fair discussion and clear thinking is desired. 'Canned' editorials certainly do not encourage such standards."

In this instance the B'nai B'rith Messenger has waited until the nefarious "canned" editorial system has worked in detriment to a cause for which it has fought.

The canned editorial is no new evil to the Anglo-Jewish press. Two years ago, this paper lost its Seven Arts Feature Syndicate franchise because it dared to speak out against a system through which a writer in a New York office sought to write editorials for newspapers in cities where the editors gave up their birthright and admitted their own ignorance or indolence.

Along with the other papers comprising the Anglo-Jewish press, the B'nai B'rith Messenger allowed this paper to be a martyr. Although not a few papers protested against the summary action of the Seven Arts Feature Syndicate, none was courageous enough to call the syndicate's hand and demand the outlawing of "canned" editorials.

But it is not too late.

"Canned" editorials are a disgrace to the American Jewish community. Newspapers using "canned" editorials are guilty of a breach of faith. They doff their titles of newspapers and unwittingly assume the mantle of propaganda mediums.

If the Seven Arts Feature Syndicate were at all interested in the principles of freedom of the press, they would have long ago desisted from supplying "canned" editorials as part of their service. If the Seven Arts Feature Syndicate had the interest of American Jewry at heart, they would have voluntarily and with a courage they have yet failed to reveal refrained from including "canned" editorials in their weekly releases.

Helplessness. Human Helplessness

PITY.

Pity the poor Jews of Austria. We pity a mother when her child dies; we pity a wife when her husband dies. We pity a child when her mother passes away. Then pity the poor Jews of Austria. For they have died.

Remember these weeks, for they are drenched with historical significance. The daily drama will unfold, and no tragedy ever written will equal in suspense or awfulness, the slow, inevitable, strangulation of Austrian Jewry.

We know what will happen to Austrian Jews. Is the horror of the concentration camp terrifying? Is death by choking unthinkable? Is starvation, slow, gnawing hunger, eating away and emaciation, revolting?

Then know that you see 200,000 Jews subjected to every inhuman atrocity, and what is worse that you see this butchery without being able to raise a hand.

Nothing that any human can do can stave off this living death. You can read and cry, one day, and cry and read the next day, but that is all.

Nothing that any human can do can stave off this living death.

Helplessness. Human helplessness.

Has The Lesson Been Learned?

THE lesson of the failure of world Jewry to seize the Palestine opportunity when it was offered to them in the years following the Balfour Declaration has been explained. Tragically it has been pointed out that our disloyalty in refusing to give enough of our abundance so that Palestine could have been purchased inch by inch from the Arabs when Palestine was for sale, has robbed German Jewry, Polish Jewry and now Austrian Jewry of their only haven.

But has the lesson been learned?

If miraculously, peace were declared in Palestine, and Jewish colonization were permitted on the same scale as in 1936, would World Jewry respond to the call?

Or would it repeat its agonizing failure?

Jews were not prepared spiritually a few years ago to ransom their kidnapped brethren of Europe. Are they prepared today?

How great a sum could be raised from Jews of the world today, if the miracle of free land sale, and large scale immigration in Palestine were to come to pass?

The lesson has been explained. But has it been learned?

Comments On Current Topics

Rabbi Louis I. Newman Comments On The Tasks Of A Rabbi.—Young men who contemplate entering the rabbinate must not be led to believe that they can have a public career of eminence, apart from the life of the congregation to which they may minister. There is a discipline in the rabbinate from which not even the most gifted men can escape. The number of rabbis who are able to travel frequently and to devote themselves to national or communal tasks remotely connected with the affairs of their synagogues is decidedly few. Moreover, to do this extra-synagogue work, they must pay a heavy price. They must sacrifice at certain points, chiefly in the personal ministry to individual congregants. There is a constant clamor for the presence and attentions of the rabbi, and no one can substitute for him. If the rabbi is at home for a short time, he feels that he can hear his congregation calling out to him: "Visit me, visit me." He must congratulate the parents on the arrival of a new youngster; he must send felicitations to the newly-betrothed couple; he must telephone and visit the sick; he must pay calls of condolence; he must be in touch with his families in joy and sorrow. There is absolutely no immunity from these fundamental duties. They are the very stuff and substance of the rabbinical task. No matter how effective a preacher may be, his ministry is inadequate if the rabbi is also not a pastor.

The American Jewish Outlook Comments On The Synagogue Dues.—We are impressed with the justifiable complaint of that most neglected bill, the "Synagogue Bill," which makes itself articulate in the bulletin of the famous Ohab Zedeck Congregation, in New York.

"Why am I not treated like the electric bill? I, too, bring light into darkened lives. Why am I not treated like the telephone bill? I, too, connect—the present with the past.

"Why am I not treated like the coal and fuel bills? I supply Jewish warmth and motive power.

"Why am I not treated like the grocery bill? I, too, nourish the Jewish people and give them strength.

"Why am I not treated like the clothing bill? I, too, ornament the Jew with fine clothing for his spirit?"

Undoubtedly the Synagogue Bill should be heard. His claim is legitimate. He supplies an indispensable service. Let us determine to introduce the Dollar Bill to Synagogue Bill thus strengthening Judaism and removing the stain from Jewish character that persists as long as Synagogue bills remain unpaid.

CLEVELAND—Wooed by a suitor 12,000 miles away—a suitor she'd never seen—a Cleveland girl was preparing to go to Johannesburg, South Africa.

The romantic courtship began nearly two years ago with a letter and a tiny snapshot.

Miss Bertha Frank, attractive Glenville High School graduate, and salesgirl of the May Company, will sail from New York next Thursday on the liner Berengaria.

She first "met" her fiancé, Philip Davidow, young Johannesburg business man, in a letter from her cousins who also live there. They told her they'd showed him her last letter and a snapshot she'd enclosed. And, they said, he wanted to write himself. He did.

Bertha came to Bellefaire, the Cleveland Jewish Orphan Home supported by B'nai B'rith, when she was eleven years old, with a brother, of eight. She left four years ago, and when her brother graduated a year ago, they lived together with friends. Bertha says that she always used to talk about "her relatives in Africa" and dream about going there some day.

JABOTINSKY WELCOMED

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency
CAPE TOWN—The South African Government will not prevent the temporary entry of Vladimir Jabotinsky, head of the New Zionist Organization, the Minister of Interior said in Parliament in reply to a question. The Government does not consider his projected visit to South Africa harmful, the minister said.

NAZI CAMPAIGN

90 per cent Catholic, Seyess-Inquart himself is a devout Catholic, and is understood to have a "truce" with Hitler protecting the Catholics. This would leave the Jews to bear the full burden of Nazi oppression. No Haven Available.

While there is no reason to believe that Jews would be permitted to leave—many were arrested in attempting to cross the borders—there is, literally, no place for them to go. England only a few days ago announced she would continue the "arbitrary ban" against immigration into Palestine. Under this restrictive policy, only 10,000 Jews were admitted to the Holy Land in 1937.

In London, Dr. Chaim Weizmann, president of World Zionist Organization, stressed the seriousness of the situation. The Jewish Agency Administrative Committee Sunday urged the lifting of the restrictions on Palestine entry.

The blow fell as the world economic situation is darkening, making it increasingly difficult to raise funds for the relief of the stricken. No Panic.

In Washington, Representative Donald L. O'Toole (Dem.) of Brooklyn, introduced a bill in the House of Representatives asking severance of diplomatic relations with Germany until that nation "relinquishes coercive, forced control of Austria". Secretary of State Cordell Hull said the United States was "not involved in any way" in Austrian developments.

Of the 200,000 Jews in Austria, 178,000 are concentrated in Vienna. Another 600,000 Austrians are conceded to have some Jewish blood in them.

From Vienna, a responsible observer reported that while deep anxiety prevailed in Jewish quarters, it could not be described as a panic atmosphere.

The Minnie Untermyer Memorial Open Air Theatre and Stadium at Hebrew University in Jerusalem has a seating capacity of 2200.
